Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

If this application currently names joint inventors, in considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nakaya et al (US 5998921).

Regarding claims 1, 3-5, 7-8, Nakaya discloses a lamp (see fig 5) comprising a tubular glass lamp vessel (2), a conductor layer (6) on an outer surface of the vessel. The conductor layer has a component of Tin (see line 44 of column 5). The limitations of how the conductor layer is formed (ie by solder dipping, blasted, ultrasonic solder dipping), is directed to the process of making, which is not deemed positive product limitation. Courts have been holding for quite some time that "--in spite of the fact that a product-by-process claim may recite only process limitations, it is the product which is covered by the claims and not the recited process steps--". (In re Hughes, 182 USPQ 106). Also, "--patentability of a claim to a product does not rest merely on a difference in the method by which the product is made. Rather, it the product itself which must be new and unobvious--". (In re Pilkington, 162 USPQ 147). Accordingly, "--a rejection based alternatively on either section 102 or section 103 of the statute is eminently fair and acceptable--". (In re Brown and Saffer, 173, USPQ 685 and 688). As such, no patentable weight has been given to such process limitations (see MPEP 2113).

Regarding claims 2 and 6, limitations of additives (such as Al) to conductor layer is known in the art for improving reliability of contact. Thus, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to add Al to contact layer as is well known for the purpose of improving reliability of contact. Alternatively, this limitation is not deemed patentable since the applicant's disclosure fails to show such limitation to solve any problems or to yield any unobvious advantage that is not within the scope of the teachings applied. Therefore, such limitation would be a matter of design alternative.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's filed arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive for following reasons. Applicant argues that recited process step results in physically differ product than the prior art product. However, no such physically different product limitations are recited in the claim.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
